The 1971 Islander Staff Presents

Reflections . . .

A New School Year . . .

... new faces

Freshmen find new experiences, new activities, new ideas, and new - friends?

... and familiar ones

"Mr. Boone? For homeroom? Again?"

... new ideas

Mr. Whitt finds a skirt that doesn't conform to the new dress code - it isn't 4 to 6 inches above the knee!

... established standards.

Randy Flynn plans to give Larry Ledford a surprise crew-cut.

Classes — — a year of academic

Michael Hunter wonders if the ban on praying in public schools is lifted before an English test.

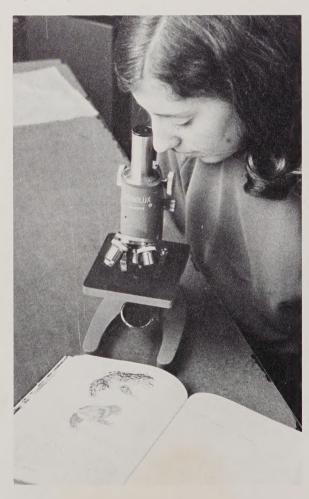

Remember Blue Books and Blue Mondays in marketing? Mr. Allen, Marsha Payne, and Wayne McDevitt do!

Science classes - interpolating, permulating, formulating - and passing!

Trying to use an electric typewriter during a power failure creates problems for Leslie Mashburn.

adventure, growth, and development.

In Family Living, Clementine Morrow, Terry Worley, and Ricky Buckner make cool-rise bread - that didn't!

Preparing a skit for the Halloween Carnival gives seniors Frank Roberts and Garry Moore a chance to develop artistic talent.

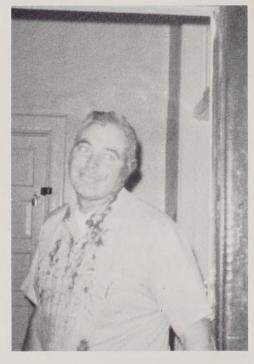

"Now, listen, boys, it just can't be done. You can't make a V-8 powered table saw. So get that engine back in my truck!"

Mishaps . . .

The day in shorthand when you broke your pencil during a speed test, filled your steno pad, and worked with the &%*! tape-recorder, the bell was twelve minutes late.

"But I told my freshmen I wanted no mud-slinging in the class elections!"

"Is it 59° above or below zero, Jim?"

MR. BOONE: The homework on pages 18-197 was due more than two weeks ago, and

FRANK: Hey, a 92 in P.E.! MR. REEVES: We have certain rules on this team, Roberts, and your report card -

FRANK: Wow, a B in conduct!
MR. BOONE: Young man you know that I don't mind calling your father and -

FRANK: I don't understand this English grade - I barely failed!

MR. REEVES: And another thing, you never listen to -

FRANK: Were you saying something, Coach? Mr. Boone?

... and Happenings

The excitement and emotion of the Seniors' final year in high school begins when class rings arrive.

Even the rain at the Old Fort game can't dampen Lynne Baker's excitement at an MHS touch-

Seniors plan for the future with college catalogs. Ask Dennis Treadway about the agony of application and the ecstasy of acceptance!

Times together . . .

The radio blares over the intercom in the auditorium at lunch; a group gathers to cram for a Fifth Period U. S. History quiz; Mr. Whitt stands in the office doorway to gaze benevolently at the organized chaos; the gang's greetings or a special person's smile convey love and laughter.

and time alone

Final hours on the island in the river... memories of the past, dreams of the future, reflections of the present.

Color and excitement of a parade

Seniors enjoy float preparation

Skillful streggle to victory Right, Mr. Ray?

Beta Club Strives for Excellence

Mr. Boone intends to see that the ten juniors and two seniors follow through with the Beta Club pledge.

The twelve students in the picture to the left were elected to membership in the National Beta Club because of academic accomplishments. But, during the induction ceremony, senior members convinced the student body that being a member in the honor and service society involves more than maintaining a scholastic average of 90 or above. Achievement, character, leadership, and service are noble words; but only too often, they are without foundation. Beta members aspire to build and shape their lives with these terms. Not to say that the kids in the picture below are picture-perfect – just ask Mrs. Patsy Waldrop, Beta sponsor – but they're out to maintain the high standards they've established in high school. After all, achieving through service and leadership builds character!

"Blannahassett Tribune"—Write On!

Editor Nancy Gentry

The "Blannahassett Tribune" is not a school paper. Admittedly, it is a project of the journalism class. And although some students confess that they've spent four years looking for the editorial page, even upperclassmen anticipated each of the four appearances of the "Tribune." Perhaps printing overintercom announcements and under-breath gossip left no place for comments about Agnew, Women's Lib, Hickel or the Revolution, but Mrs. Shupe's Journalism Class succeeded in helping the student body get it all together. The "Tribune" provided information and entertainment for students and teachers alike. That was relevant. Thank you, staff and sponsor; and — WRITE ON!

Monogram Club

Students who have lettered in football, basketball, baseball, track, or cheerleading are eligible for membership in this honorary club. Coaches and cheerleading sponsors assist in planning the club's annual Athletic Banquet.

Future Homemakers Serve Up Development

Classroom experiences assist home economics students in the development of skills and confidence. Here, sophomore members learn to prepare nutritious meals.

F.H.A. members in Marshall High School find that homemaking is nothing easily sewn up, or no half-baked activity. The girls, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Maxine Gosnell, stress personal development, including community service, in addition to the traditional Suzy Homemaker skills.

Future Homemakers of America is a national organization of students who have completed at least one semester of home economics. At Marshall High School, activities and projects concerning community, school, and F.H.A. chapter are integrated into classroom experience.

In addition to the classroom work, F.H.A. rallys, conventions, and degree work offer opportunities for growth. This year's theme for F.H.A. projects was, "Reaching Out to Others to Give a Helping Hand."

All senior members are eligible to compete for national scholarships in the Betty Crocker Search for the Ideal Homemaker of Tomorrow. Lynne Baker was a state finalist for this honor.

Through F.H.A. work, MHS girls will be able to reach out a skilled hand to others to help.

President, Deborah Meyhew; Vice-President, Marsha Payne; Secretary, Nancy Gentry; Treasurer, Carolyn Davis; Reporter, Teresa Johnson; Sponsor, Maxine Gosnell.

Debating Club — ????!??? !! ??!!!?

President, Gene Payne; Vice-President, Jim Baker; Secretary, Janet Cooper; and Treasurer, David Windsor; assisted by Dorothy B. Shupe, Sponsor, led debates on such subjects as capital punishment, liquor by the drink, eighteen-year-olds' voting, marijuana, and the war in Vietnam.

D.E.C.A. Sells Salesmanship

Officers of the Marshall Chapter of Distributive Education Clubs of America are: President, David Allen; Vice-President, Danny Ball; Secretary-Treasurer, Linda Haynie; Parliamentarian, Wayne McDevitt; and Historian Larry Wright. The club's sponsor is James E. Allen. Members learn marketing skills through participation in demonstration contests.

Future Farmers

Freshman Jerry Cody finds a lot to live up to in the Official F.F.A. Manual.

"We've got to get outselves back to the land." From Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young to Jack C. Cole, everyone seems to be interested in the vital subject of ecology. The interest in the quality of our air, water, and land has helped F.F.A. lose its image as a club full of hicks raising hogs. Although agriculture is the focal point of this organization, Future Farmers of America also provides vocational agriculture students with further training in leadership, cooperation, and citizenship. Other aims of the organization are to build a more permanent agriculture and to improve country life.

Marshall High School's chapter of Future Farmers of America has the distinction of being one of the most active clubs in the school, and one of the best F.F.A. chapters in the state of North Carolina. MHS teams represent F.F.A. well in federation, district, state, and national competition

President, Jim Baker; Vice-President, James Kent; Secretary, Sanford Graham; Treasurer, Randy Houston; Reporter, Pratt Buckner; Sentinel, Kenneth Roberts. Advisor: Jack C. Cole.

Kenneth Roberts, Randy Fowler, David Ramsey, and Jerry Cody were members of the Federation Champion Tool Identification Team. Kenneth had a perfect score.

Pratt Buckner, Sanford Graham, and Mallie Hensley, State Champion Dairy Judging Team, attended National F.F.A. Congress in Kansas City.

V.I.C.A.

Presidents, Sanford Graham and Randy Roberts; Vice-Presidents, Mitchell West and Paul Brown; Secretary-Treasurers, Gene Nix and Odis Davis; Reporters, Joe West and Mike Freeman, Sponsor: John Dedrick Ray.

V.I.C.A. is the name of the Vocational Clubs in Trade and Industrial Education in America. Its primary purpose is to teach student leadership through a series of contests and class meetings.

V.I.C.A. members at work in the Bricklaying Department. V.I.C.A. is an integral part of Bricklaying classes, which run for three class periods.

MHS STUDENTS ARE TOPS!

LYNNE BAKER, Reynolds Scholarship nominee, Home-maker of Tomorrow, and a 1970 Governor's School Participant, is a senior with a cheerleading-life style and literary aspirations.

JAMES LEWIS is a senior who's really on the ball – the baseball. Shortstop for the State Champion Senior Babe Ruth Team, James led his team in hits. Off the field, James digs fast cars and fast music. He's a winner!

WAYNE McDEVITT, nominee for the UNC Morehead Scholarship, always has his eye on the goal, be it basketball net or White House. And his law career just may see the popular senior class leader to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue!

CATHERINE REESE, up for the UNC-G Alumni, UNC Johnston, and Marie Shank Scholarships, plans to serve as a nurse. But with this senior's aptitudes and attributes, she'll be a service to nursing.

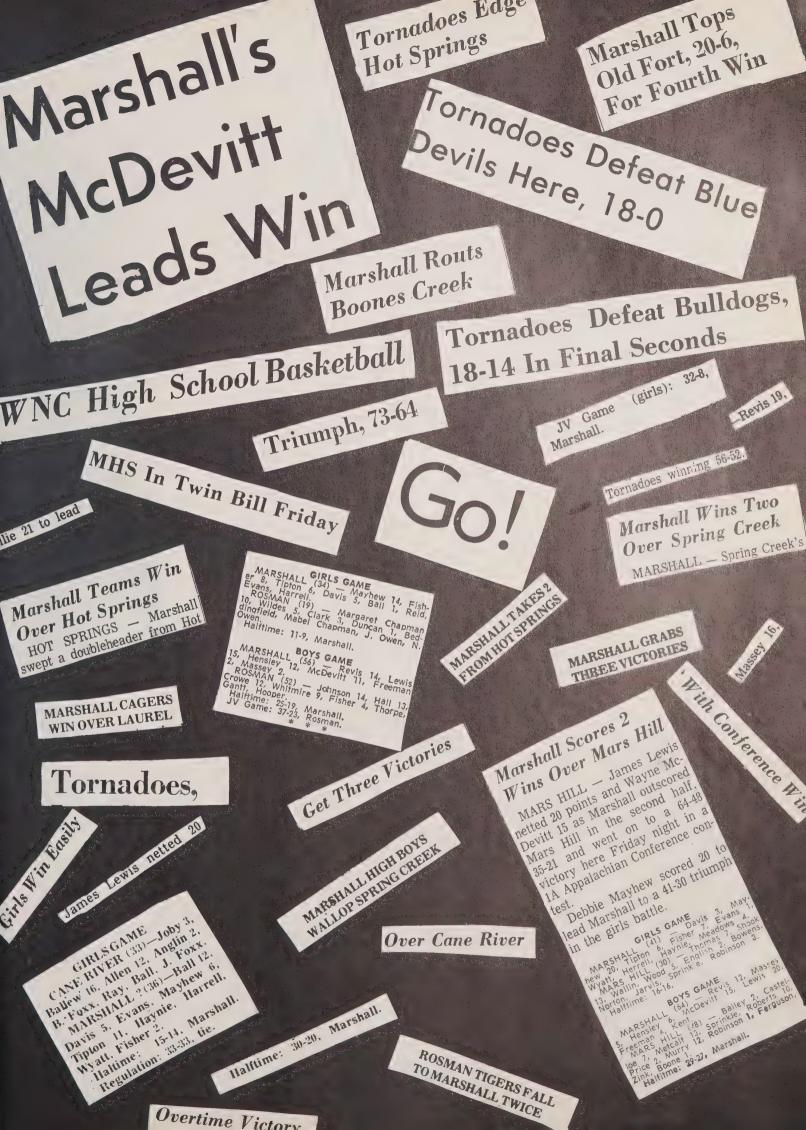

ANN Mckinney, a senior, and Edna Ann Silver, a junior, attended Western Carolina University School for Gifted Students. Ann, who attended in chemistry, found the course, especially the lab work, challenging. Ann developed a talent for making aspirin while at WCU. Edna Ann participated in the biology program, a course concentrating in the study of the environment. Ann and Edna Ann deemed their summer experiences "interesting and rewarding."

RONNIE TIPTON (Number 60), DANNY BALL, (Number 31), and JIMMY PONDER (Number 41), all juniors, and sophomore HARLON RICE (Number 45) received All-Conference honors following the '70 football season. The MHS grid-iron greats, with the able assistance of the entire squad, led the Tornadoes to a 5-5-0 record, their best season in twelve years. Ronnie, Danny, Jimmy and Harlon are working for even better results in '71. (Mars Hill, look out!)

but our skills were; and if the radiators weren't always warm, the friendships we found here were. Reflections . . .

... Walnut Elementary and Junior High School

Junior High — Preparation and Participation

PRINCIPAL

Auburn Wyatt

Sometimes he's called "Doc" or held in temporary disdain for his stand on, say, cullottes. But Mr. Wyatt is remembered by students for his dedication and concern for students and Walnut School.

SECRETARY

Lois Flynn "If that phone rings one more time, just one more time, I think I'll scream!"

Walnut School contains the unit library, pilot Middle Grades Program Unit, and some very important students. The faculty and administration are well prepared to meet the needs of students during their Wonder Years. But some Eighth Grade teachers wonder just how many years they age each time students take one of those famous bus trips for "away" games. And some Seventh Grade teachers find maintaining discipline in the Movie Room a challenge! For teachers and teeny-boppers, Junior High years are both rewarding and trying ... a time of growth ... of learning ... of fun ... of thought ... a time somewhere between the Awkward Age and the Age of Aquarius.
